

Batter Blaster “Share Your Story” Contest, Terms & Conditions

No purchase necessary; no cost to register. The email address used to enter the contest must be the holder of the established email account. By submitting your contest entry, you agree that all content is moral and age-appropriate for minors, as well as completely relevant to the outlined themes and guidelines. Batter Blaster reserves the right to disqualify any entries that may be deemed as inappropriate or offensive. Furthermore, by submitting any story and photo, the contestant agrees that the content is original, non-professional and has not been previously published. All content provided becomes property of Batter Blaster, with the right to use the content for commercial purposes, including in future promotions. Minors aged 13 years and younger who wish to participate must have parental consent prior to entering the contest with at the very least, a guardian/parent’s digital signature included in the email entry. By entering, one agrees that all content and attachments are free of viruses or other malicious code. Contestants agree that submitting their entry, no liability or responsibility will be held against Batter Blaster, including its affiliates and employees. Winning contestants accept that Batter Blaster has the right to use the name, information, story and photograph of the entry for reasonable promotional and advertising purposes.